

RECOGNITION FOR PRIOR LEARNING APPLICATION

Skills Recognition of Prior Learning for Emotional Anatomy Training

What is skills Recognition for Prior Learning?

Skills recognition is a way of giving credit for what has been studied/ or is equivalent to, without having to attend a certain training. Due to the similar nature of teaching and learning within Psychosomatic Therapy 10 day training, this RPL form provides evidence of the equivalence in learning materials related to the Emotional Anatomy Training taught through Soul Space Brisbane.

Who will need to submit this RPL form?

Any past Psychosomatic Therapy student who wants to gain certification as an Emotional Anatomy Consultant through the Emotional Anatomy Bridging Course pathway (+ E/A logbook).

What is the Emotional Anatomy Bridging Course?

The Emotional Anatomy Bridging Course is a pathway for past Psychosomatic Therapy students to achieve the Emotional Anatomy Consultant certification over 3 intensive days, rather than having to complete the entire 8 day training. Detailed information of what is involved in the Emotional Anatomy Bridging Course can be found at:

<http://soulpacebrisbane.com.au/emotional-anatomy-bridging-course/>

What evidence is needed?

Students are to submit the following documentation alongside this form to be granted the qualification of an Emotional Anatomy Consultant.

1. Certificate of Attendance you received after attending the 10 Psychosomatic Therapy Training, OR, if you haven't received a certificate of attendance but you have completed a 10 day training please provide the following: student number, training dates & and training provider/teacher details (email and phone contact) – NO PT log book required.
2. Certificate of Attendance received upon completion of the 3 day Emotional Anatomy Bridging Course.
3. Emotional Anatomy Log Book (x2 Face Reading reports & x3 Emotional Anatomy reports)

If your application is successful you will be awarded:

CERTIFICATE of EMOTIONAL ANATOMY, qualifying you as an EMOTIONAL ANATOMY CONSULTANT.
